

TROUBLE BREWING OVER POSTAL BANK

Wide Difference of Opinion
In Committee—Report
Is Doubtful.

Signs of trouble in the House over the postal savings bank bill are beginning to thicken.

The bill is pending before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Post-offices and there is a wide difference of opinion in the subcommittee and the main committee with respect to it. It is doubtful whether the committee makes a report on it to the House. This is the statement made by a member of the committee in position to know.

If the committee does not act, there will be a revolt stirred up over the House. A motion will be made to discharge the committee from consideration of the bill. Insurgents, many regulars, and some Democrats will vote for it.

The friends of the bill think they command a majority in the House and that they can force the bill to the floor if the committee is recalcitrant. They have the advantage of the fact that President Taft is anxious for postal savings legislation.

Insurgents in the House say that it will be developed within a few weeks that Speaker Cannon and the House organization are not for Administration legislation. They assert this with confidence. Apparently, they have the postal savings bill in mind, and expect House leaders to take a stand in opposition to the wishes of Mr. Taft as to this proposed legislation.

CHARLES ELLICOTT GOES TO ALASKA

Call of the Wild Too Much for Naval Academy
Student.

Charles G. Ellcott, son of Capt. Charles Ellcott, U. S. N., has started for Alaska, to be gone indefinitely.

"The call of the wild" began to sting in his ears soon after he entered the Naval Academy last summer. It grew so insistent that finally he resigned from the Academy. Yesterday he finished packing and caught a train for Chicago. He will go first to Seattle and thence to Alaska on a hunting trip. Later he will settle down in Alaska.

The Ellcotts formerly lived in Washington, but several years ago Captain Ellcott was assigned to duty on the Pacific coast. Then it was that young Ellcott developed the Alaskan fever.

REVOLUTION IMPENDING.

SPRING CITY, Pa., April 22.—Poll-dore Henry, of this place, has just received word from Washington, D. C., that his patent had been forwarded to him, covering a window-glass manufacturing machine, by which he expects to revolutionize the trade.

HEARST MANEUVERS CAUSING DISCUSSION

Politicians Believe Him
Playing for Democratic Nomination In 1912.

That William Randolph Hearst is playing for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1912 is the view taken here by many shrewd politicians.

This is the interpretation placed on some of Mr. Hearst's recent maneuvers. The recent speech of John Temple Graves, at the Jefferson Day banquet here, in which he said that Mr. Hearst was ready to come back into the fold, is one of the pieces of evidence advanced to show that Hearst wants to be identified with the Democratic campaign this fall and catch the Democratic vote in 1912.

More than this, the recent pronouncement of Mr. Hearst in praise of President Taft is thought to mean that Hearst will attempt to capture the Democratic nomination. In praising Mr. Taft and attacking Mr. Roosevelt, some think Mr. Hearst is trying to bring about the renomination of Taft with the idea that he would prefer to run against Taft than against Roosevelt.

Altogether, Mr. Hearst promises to be an interesting element in the campaign this fall and in the next Presidential campaign.

POLITICAL FIGHT AT CHEVY CHASE

People of Village Argue Question of Incorporating to Be Voted on Monday.

Chevy Chase, Md., just now, is up to its neck in politics. Nearly everybody in the community is taking an active interest in the question of incorporating. More than a hundred citizens attended a meeting last night in the library building to hear arguments for and against the plan to make the village a corporation. The question will be settled by balloting next Monday.

The voting will take place in the library building, and will be conducted by the board of supervisors of elections of Montgomery county.

Wife Removes Death Notice
When Suicide Story Is Exploded.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 22.—"Closed on account of death," read the sign placed on the clothing store of M. G. Asch, in North street. Later the mourning placard was removed and Mrs. Asch was in the store, doing her best air as might be expected from a woman whose husband wasn't dead after all, but was at home and in need of constant attention. He arrived here last night in her care. She had found him in a lodging house in Philadelphia. Asch left his home on the afternoon of April 15, telling his wife and friends that he was going to New York on business. The next morning his overcoat was found on an Erie railroad ferryboat in the North river, with the following note attached: "Look out for my body in the river." With the grief-stricken Mrs. Asch was waiting for word that the body had been recovered. She received a letter from her husband. He was alive—very much so—and in Philadelphia. She immediately went there and found him ill, but he was able to return with her.

Asch says he has no recollection of leaving his overcoat on the ferryboat, or of writing the note, and does not know how he reached Philadelphia, his mind being a blank from the time he boarded the ferryboat until he came to himself in the Philadelphia lodging house. Then he immediately informed his wife. Asch has been in poor health and his friends say this caused his mind to wander.

INCOME TAX SHOWS EFFECT ON MARKET

London Financiers Anticipate Dumping of Securities to Make Payments.

LONDON, April 22.—The London market today exhibited nervousness in anticipation of the sudden withdrawal of millions of dollars to meet income tax payments, which are now being enforced by the revenue department under the authorization of Wednesday's parliamentary resolution.

The amount of back income taxes is $11,275,000, due to the rejection of the budget. As these taxes are now long overdue, the Government will demand their payment next week, which means the withdrawal of an enormous amount of money from the banks and the dumping of a lot of securities on the market.

SEPARATE TRIAL ASKED BY HUSTON

Declares Appearance With Others Would Prejudice
Case.

James N. Huston, former Treasurer of the United States, today asked that a separate trial be granted him when he is called to answer charges of conspiracy on an indictment returned jointly against him, Harvey M. Lewis, Everett Dufour, and Samuel Graham, all of whom are said to have been connected with the National Trust Company.

The National Trust Company's office in this city was raided last September and its affairs, largely in connection with a stock guarantee plan, were taken in charge by the authorities.

Through Attorneys Douglas and Baker, Mr. Huston, in asking for a separate trial, declares that evidence which may be admitted in the trial of the others will prejudice his case with a jury, and also that his defense is antagonistic to that which he says will be advanced by the others.

MAGNATE'S WIDOW IS NOT TO WED

Mrs. Yerkes Declares She Will Not Marry Former Secretary.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Mrs. Mary Adelaide Yerkes, widow of the traction magnate of Chicago and London, will not be married to her former secretary, William Seavey Lower, as was reported. "I may have made a mistake on one occasion, but never again," she told friends, meaning, it is understood, she had determined never to repeat the error she holds she made when she was married to Wilson Mizner.

"Billy" Lower, as he is known familiarly, is in England and is not expected back until the end of the summer. Mrs. Yerkes is living in the Hotel Plaza. It is understood she has a fortune of about $3,000,000. From proceeds of the sale of her husband's art collection, furniture and home in Fifth avenue she will receive as her share about $1,000,000. Her jewels are valued at another $1,000,000, and she possesses real estate in Chicago, stocks and bonds in Chicago, traction lines and valuable works of art and antique furniture.

Keeping the Tea-Kettle Free From Scale

Every housewife who lives where water is hard, knows how the lime and other salts form a coating on the inside of the kettle. This may be largely prevented, and the outside of the tea-kettle kept free from soot and grease, by washing thoroughly inside and outside every day or so, with hot water and Gold Dust. The hard lime and other salts are dissolved by the Gold Dust and the inside of the kettle will be kept smooth much longer. If thus cared for, Be sure to rinse thoroughly with clear warm water, then refill with cold water for heating.
